

ABOUT US

Waypoint Consulting delivers sound business solutions and future vendor independence by providing experienced professionals to solve your business needs. Our team members each bring over 10 years of proven experience delivering projects on time, within budget while creating innovative approaches to change management and knowledge transfer.

Unlike many vendors who have recently “jumped” on the business intelligence bandwagon, Waypoint has been developing and deploying reporting and analytical solutions for some of North America’s forward thinking organizations for over a decade. Through a blend of professional services and packaged solutions, we help organizations like yours make better business decisions, more efficiently.

What differentiates Waypoint Consulting is our Project Management practice and methodology. Our PM ensures that your solution is developed appropriately and adopted by your business community. Regardless of the size of the engagement, a Project Manager plays an active and integral role in the success of the project. Contact us to experience the difference.
